Constituency Report Which MP is Safe? 25th July 2022

Methodology & Approach

Methodology and Approach:

Analysis of the report is based on “Likely Voters” Model. Voters who indicated they will not vote were excluded from the overall analysis for the primaries and general elections head-to-head.

Comparative analysis for the April 2022 poll was adjusted to reflect “Likely Voters” only.

Sample Size: 5,490

Confidence Interval: 99%

Margin of Error: MoE of $\pm 1.737\%$

Population of voters in the 75 constituencies: 4,877,028

Sampling Method:

- 75 constituencies were selected randomly using simulation model.
- Out of the 75 constituencies randomly selected, 41 were won by the NPP and 34 were won by the NDC in the 2020 general elections.

Global Info Analytics
Analytics . Polls . Modelling

Sampling Frame

- The 2020 Electoral Commissions voters' register was used as a sampling frame for the purpose of allocating sample size to each constituency.
- Allocation of sample to each constituency on basis of registered voters in the constituencies relative to the 75 constituencies selected.
- For each constituency selected, the location for the interview was also selected randomly from three Electoral Areas of the constituency.
- The margin of error for zeroing reports to constituency level will have significantly larger margin of error.
- The results of each constituency poll presented may represent a statistical noise, and therefore further survey with higher sample size relative to the voters' population in the constituency will be necessary to confirm the findings from this national poll as it relates to the constituency.

Fieldwork:

- Interviews were carried out between 1st July – 15th July 2022.

Demographic analysis: Demographic analysis of the poll will have higher margin or error.

2020 RESULT

84.80%

Margin :

69.60%

- ❑ Right Direction: 20%. Wrong Direction 74% . No opinion 6%
- ❑ Presidential Approval: Approve-14%, Disapprove- 85%, No opinion-1%
- ❑ Party Affiliation: NPP, 67%. NDC, 26%. FV, 4%, Other, 4%.
- ❑ Very Likely/Likely 34%. Very unlikely/unlikely 58%. Neutral 8%

Conclusion: In an overwhelmingly NPP constituency, the Hon. Minister of Education is underwater with only 34% of voters likely to vote for him. Close to 60% of NPP voters are unlikely to vote for him. Would he become a casualty in the NPP primaries? If he wins, he will win re-election.

- Party Affiliation: NPP, 45%. NDC, 15%. Other,34%.
- Very Likely/Likely 21%. Very unlikely/unlikely 71%. Neutral 8%

Conclusion: The incumbent and Minister of Energy is on the rope as 71% voters are unlikely to vote for him. There is a cross party opposition to his re-election bid as NPP, NDC and Other voters prepare to hang him. The MP is in real danger and could struggle to win his primaries as 57% of NPP voters are unlikely to vote for him. Though NPP presidential candidates are winning against John Mahama, the Minister is unable to benefit from their performance. He appears to be the problem in the constituency.

- ❑ Very Likely/Likely 12%. Very unlikely/unlikely 81%, Neutral 8%
- ❑ Party Affiliation: NPP,31%. NDC, 52%. Other,17%.

Conclusion: The incumbent is one of the most vulnerable opposition MPs with cross party opposition to his re-election bid if he runs again. 81% of his base are unlikely to vote for him. It is unlikely Mahama could save him unless he can reconcile with his base, otherwise, he is likely to lose the seat.
