

NPP WARNS USA

The New Patriotic Party (NPP) has warned the United States of America that it will not tolerate any interference in the affairs of the party and the management of Ghana.

Mr. Adam Sabo Abdul-Rahaman, a leading member of the Greater Accra Communication Team of the party, said “Ghana is a sovereign state” and the US and its officials cannot be imposing their will on the country.

Mr. Abdul-Rahman was reacting to a claim by Mr. Solomon Owusu, a member of the Communications Team of the Movement for Change, that President Akufo-Addo refused to sign the Human Sexual Rights and Family Values Bill into law on the instructions of US Vice President Kamala Harris.

Speaking on the current affairs programme “Alhaji and Alhaji”, Mr. Abdul-Rahman said Dr Mahamoud Bawumia and the NPP will never accept the dictation of the government and officials of the United States of America.

Mr. Owusu had alleged that Kamala Harris flew into Accra and virtually instructed President Akufo-Addo and Vice President Bawumia not to sign the Bill.

Since the passage of the Bill, some six months ago, President Akufo-Addo has refused to sign it into law claiming that its constitutionality is being contested at the Supreme Court.

Vice President Bawumia who is contesting the December 7 election as the presidential candidate of the New Patriotic Party (NPP) has said publicly that as a moslem, he is opposed to homosexuality and all forms of un-natural sex.

Early this week, the speaker of Parliament Rt. Honourable Albin S. Bagbin stated publicly that he will instruct the Clerk of Parliament to resubmit the Human Sexual Rights and Family Values Bill to President Akufo-Addo for signature.
